Great news!
Hawai'i Volcanic Water has sponsored two Seabin units that are successfully cleaning Ala Wai Harbor.
A Seabin is a cross between a trash bin and a pool skimmer. The Seabin sits mounted to a pontoon, slightly below the surface of the water, sucking the water through and out the bottom, catching marine debris including micro plastics and microfibers. In addition, the Seabin filters 600,000 liters per day absorbing oily pollutants that may be found on the water's surface.
